

Name _____

CSM Anatomy Worksheet One Orientation to the Body

Please fill in the following blanks with the appropriate term from the lab guide. You will need to use your book to locate some of these structures. There may be more than one correct term to use, so try to think of all that may apply.

1. The humerus is _____ to the lunate bone.
2. The right brachium and the right gluteal region are _____ to each other.
3. The mandible is _____ to the parietal bone.
4. The pelvis is _____ to the gluteal skin.
5. The cavity that contains the spinal cord is the _____ cavity.
6. If a person has hepatitis, they might be sore in the _____ quadrant.
7. The hamstrings muscles are found in the _____ region.
8. The _____ plane dissects the body into anterior and posterior sections.
9. The transverse plane would dissect the body into _____ sections.
10. The membranes that surrounds the lungs are called _____ .
11. The pancreas is part of the _____ and _____ systems.
12. A person lying face down is _____, if lying face up they are _____.
13. In anatomical position thumbs are _____ to the palms of the hands.
14. The nipples are in the _____ region.
15. If you tickle a persons plantar region, they will probably move their _____ .
16. The anterior or ventral body cavity contains _____ and _____ and _____ regions.
17. The popliteal region is _____ to the patella.

18. A hernia, where the abdominal contents push out of the abdominal cavity, may be inguinal if it occurs between the _____ and _____ .

19. The acromial region is _____ to the sternum.

20. The tongue is in the _____ region.

21. The word root to describe the stomach is _____ .

22. The heart and lungs are located in the _____ cavity.

23. A stroke will cause paralysis on the _____ side of the body.

24. The frontal bone is _____ to the nasal bone.

25. The bladder is located in the _____ cavity and is part of the _____ system.

26. This imaging technique is used to image brain blood vessels _____ .

27. Describe where the _____ is in relation to other structures around it and body cavities: _____
